

As a forward-thinking pharmaceutical company with a strong sense of responsibility, we strive to use natural resources sparingly and to ensure safe working conditions, while also ensuring we take all reasonable and practicable measures to reduce any negative impacts on people, the environment and the climate. We consistently deliver on our binding and voluntary commitments on a regional, national and international level, while minimising risks for our employees and for the environment.

We are committed to continuously improving our performance in terms of occupational health and safety, public health and environmental protection, as well as optimising our energy consumption.

This results in the following guiding principles:

1. In order to ensure we continue to improve in terms of occupational health and safety, environmentalism and energy consumption, our integrated HSE management system is used to measure and evaluate any activities which may have a negative impact on these areas. We then use these findings to implement tangible measures and set binding objectives to minimise hazards and risks. medac shall provide the necessary information and company resources required to pursue these objectives.
2. To prevent illness and injury to employees, we both enable and support the maintenance of working conditions which are both safe and conducive to a healthy lifestyle. This is a joint undertaking involving medac employees and the works council.
3. Our aim is to continuously reduce the consumption of energy and other natural resources within our means and, wherever possible, to cut emissions and reduce waste in such a way that we contribute to a more sustainable future. medac also provides support in the planning and designing of eco-friendly, energy-efficient and safe processes and facilities, and promotes the procurement of efficient and sustainable products and services.
4. medac fosters an awareness among its employees of occupational health and safety, the environment and energie-saving practices. All medac employees are able to and are expected to carry out their duties, within the scope of their influence and responsibility, in a judicious and resourceful manner and with strong sense of ownership. Furthermore, as medac employees, we encourage you to share any possible concerns and offer suggestions for improvement.
